

IELTS Writing Task 1 - Map Sample with Model Answer

The maps below show the changes in a public park from 1980 to the present day. Summarise the information by selecting and reporting the main features, and make comparisons where relevant.

Model Answer (Band 9):

The two maps illustrate how a public park has changed between 1980 and the present time. Overall, the park has undergone significant modernization, with recreational areas replacing some of the older facilities. While the general layout remains similar, the use of space has been adapted to meet modern needs, including leisure and dining. In 1980, the park featured a large fountain at the center, surrounded by seating areas. To the north, there was a musical stage, while the southern part had a pond for boating. A small café and children's play area were located in the east, and the main entrance was positioned on the south side. Today, the park has been completely redesigned. The central fountain has been replaced by a rose garden with benches around it. The stage has been converted into an amphitheater for concerts, and the pond has been replaced with a café and playground. A new water feature and underground car park have been added, improving accessibility and entertainment options. Walking paths have also been modified to connect all the new facilities efficiently. In conclusion, the public park has transformed from a traditional, open-space layout into a modern recreational area with improved amenities and attractions.
